Directions for Tracing Descent.

Example.—Ruth Coleman. By reference to the Index it appears that she is the daughter of Oliver Allen Coleman, page 28

There will be found her father's record. He is the son of William B. Coleman, grandson of George Coleman, and so on, and his pedigree is given back to the founder.

She learns that she is of the the 10th generation from Thomas. By turning to her grandfather's record she learns that he had four sons, William B., Jr., George S., Charles S. and her father Oliver Allen, so that she has three uncles on her father's side.

Turning to great grandfather's page she finds that he had six children, four sons, Wm. B., (her grandfather), Ferdinand, James and Silas, and two daughters, Almira and Anna, so she has three great uncles and two great aunts.

As her fathers brother George S. whose page is 28 has a daughter Gertrude, she is the possessor of one live cousin.

If her curiosity is aroused to learn what relation the Ingrahams are to her, she turns to the index of families connected by marriage, and finds that under the title of Ingraham, reference is made to page 19 Turning to that page she finds that her great grandfather George Coleman's daughter Anna, her great aunt, married Dr. T. M. Ingraham, and had 10 children, and that she is a cousin several times removed, to them all.

If she is curious to learn the habitat of her ancestors she will find by consulting their respective pages, that her ancestors, up to the beginning of the Revolutionary War, were residents of Nantucket, and that about that time her great great great grandfather Elihu removed to Columbia County, N. Y., where her great grandfather was born. She will also learn that her grandfather was born in New York City, that her father was born at Flatlands, N. Y. and that she herself was born in Americus, Georgia.

If her curiosity is further aroused to learn what blood is allied with hers, she will find by referring to the index of families, that 18 Macys, 11 Bunkers, a like number of Coffins, 8 Folgers, and representative of the families of Barnard, Starbuck, Paddock, Husseys, and over a hundred others, have at different times in the last three hundred years, married into the family; and following up her father's record, learns that she is a conglomerate of Coleman, Macys, Bunker, Coffin, Folger, Barnard, Starbuck and others.

FIRST GENERATION.

1602—1685.

THOMAS COLEMAN, the ancestor of all those of like name, who appear of record in this book, was born in Marlborough, Wiltshire, England, in 1602, and at the age of 33 came to this country with his wife in the ship "James," from Southampton, arriving at Boston, June 3, 1635. 1635

He settled first in Newbury, Mass., where he was admitted freeman in 1637, and where his first wife Susanna, died Nov. 17, 1650.

He afterwards removed to Hampton, where he married Mary, widow of Edward Johnson, July 11, 1651.

He was married for the third time to Margery, daughter of Philip Fowler and widow of Thos. Rowell, of Andover, who had been the widow of first Christopher Osgood, of Andover, and before 1663 removed to Nantucket, where he died in 1685, aged 83.

Sir Richard Saltonstall, Henry Sewell, Richard and Stephen Dummer with others from Wiltshire, England, had organized a company for the purpose of stock raising at a time when the prices for cattle, horses and sheep were at their highest, and Thomas Coleman had been employed by the projectors of the stock-raising company to provide food for the cattle and take care of them for a specified term of two years.

Thomas Coleman becoming dissatisfied, for some reason, declined to carry out his part of the contract, and the General Court finally ordered a division of the grain that had been imported, and instructed each owner to take care of his own cattle.

In "Ould Newbury," published by John J. Currier, in 1896, appears a plan of the lots laid out to the first settlers in 1635, in which Thomas Coleman's name appears as the owner of two lots.

Under date Feb. 27, 1638, appears the name of JEREMIAH COLEMAN, signed to a document as one of the select men of Newburyport.

In a history of Newburyport and West Newbury, 1635 to 1845, by Joshua Coffin, published in 1845, appears the following: 1645, Dec. 22. "Thomas Coleman having taken a farme so that "he cannot attend to lay out lottes, John Pemberton was "appointed lott layer in his roome, and to joine with Richard "Knight and to have four pence per acre, and what they are not "paid for the towne is to see them satisfied for, the legal means "being first user to obtayne it."

Pa. 93. "Among the list of grantees of the proprietors, "Book of Records of the first settlers from 1636 to 1700, the "name of Thomas Coleman appears."

Pa. 391. " The family of Coleman in Nantucket, are also "descended from Thomas Coleman's older children, and those in "Newbury are descended from the youngest son, Tobias, the son "of Margery, the third wife of Thomas, and who was the widow "of Thos. Rowell, of Andover."

"He moved from Newbury to the North side of the Merri-"mack, called Hampton, and about 1659 to Nantucket, where he "died at the age of 82."

His name also appears among the grantees of a deed of the Island of Nantucket, made by the Wanackmanak Chief, Sachem, of the Island, dated January 29, 1671.

From "Early Settlers of Nantucket," Pa. 44, "Thomas "Coleman must have removed to Nantucket prior to 1673, as on "October 30 of that year he is recorded as "drawn on jury" "there. He is also named with Christopher Hussey and others, "in a list of those who settled Hampton, New Hampshire."

The Island of Nantucket, situated about 30 miles south of the main land, was discovered in 1602, by Bartolomew Gosnold, an Englishman, and in 1641 was deeded to Thomas Mayhew and his son, by James Forrett, Agent of the Earl of Stirling.

The right of the Mayhews was bought by a company of ten persons, who, finding it necessary to encourage immigration agreed at a meeting held at Salisbury, Mass., in 1659, for each owner to take a partner, or assistant, which should be left the choice of each individual to elect one.

Persons so chosen were  Thomas Coleman, "Vol. 12, N. E. Hist. and Gen. Register, by Drake."

Thomas Coleman was one of the partners and purchasers of $\frac{1}{20}$th part of the Island of Nantucket, in 1659, being of those chosen by the first 10 purchasers as partners.

He had a house, lot and other lands set off to him at different times by the committee for laying out lands.

I find by the old book of records, that he was on a jury October 20, 1673.

He deeded his lands, houses, etc., to his son Tobias, to take effect after his death, dated November 3, 1673, at which time he was by his own declaration in the deed, a resident of Nantucket, as well as his son Tobias, who had a wife, Lydia, and a son Thomas.

From Book 1, Page 22, County Record, Deed A.

Be it known unto all men and by these presents declared, that I, Thomas Coleman, of Sherbourne, on the Island of Nantucket, for divers good and weighty considerations me thereunto moving, do hereby freely give, grant, ratify and confirm unto my son Tobias Coleman, ten akers of land, part of it being that on which his home standeth, and the remainder on the north side of his house above the highway.

This I give to him, at present to have and to hold, to him and his heirs forever. I also hereby give unto the said Tobias, my son, to enjoy the same after my decease, all my other land, both upland and meadow, upon the Island of Nantucket, with all the housing that is or may be upon it at the day of my death.

Thomas and Tobias Coleman, both inhabitants in the town of Sherbourne, upon the Island of Nantucket, sell Saml. Bickford half a share of Land, Nov. 12, 1678, in the presence of Peter Folger.	(sg.) Thomas Coleman.

Wm. Worth.	(sg.) Tobias Coleman.

The Society of Friends on Nantucket originated about or after the year 1704, when Thomas Story went there on a religious visit.

He remarks that the people were kind and hospitable, and that many of them appeared to be seeking the right way in religious matters; that he found but two of the denomination of Friends or Quakers at that time, but that the people consisted of various persuasions and appeared glad of his company and satisfied with his visit; that he had various opportunities with many of them to establish a meeting under the auspices and direction of the Society of Friends since there appeared to him to be great number who believed in their principles. His advice was attended to and a meeting established. From this beginning the Society increased from time to time.

The number of members at one period was about twelve hundred, and nearly as many more attended their meetings who were not members, but fully believed in their principles.

There is much obscurity resting on the early history of the Friends Society at Nantucket.

In the year 1708 ten persons came to the Island to set up a yearly meeting. By some authority the number is stated to have only been five, two of them public Friends, and others acting only in their individual capacity. The first ministers belonging to the Island were Mary Starbuck and her son Nathaniel, Nathaniel Gardner, John Swain and Priscilla Coleman.

Priscilla was the daughter of Nathaniel and Mary Starbuck, and wife of John Coleman, grandson of Thomas Coleman.

From " Early Settlers of Nantucket," Pa. 28-29.

"Mary Coffin, seventh child of Tristram Coffin, Sr., was "born in Haverhill, February 20, 1645. She was married in "1662, at the age of seventeen, to Nathaniel, son of Edward and "Katherine (Reynolds) Starbuck. The first book of births, "marriages and deaths for the town of Sherburne (page 11), "says " Mary Starbuck departed this life ye 13 day of ye 9 mo., "1717, in ye 74 year of her age, and was decently buried in "Friends burying grounds." Her husband, Nathaniel Starbuck, "Sr., died in 1719.

" She was a remarkable woman, anticipating by two centuries, "the advanced views of women of to-day. She took an active "part in town debates, usually opening her remarks with "my "husband and I, having considered the subject, think, etc."

" In 1701, at the age of fifty-six, she became interested in the "religious faith of the Friends, and held meetings at her house. "She was a minister in the Society, as were also several of her "children, her grandsons Elihu and Nathaniel Coleman, and "her grand daughter Priscilla Bunker.

"Elihu Coleman published one of the earliest protests against "slavery in New England."

The Nantucket Colemans appear to have joined the Society of Friends early in the 18th century, and that has been their faith up to the present time, with few exceptions.

The intermarriage for many years, of the descendants of Thomas Coleman, with those of the other early settlers of Nantucket, has resulted in a large family connection, particularly with the families of Coffins, Macys and Bunker, running no doubt up into the thousands, if traced out to the last generation

Wiltshire is one of the Southern Counties of England, and has always been an agricultural district.

The farmers, or as they were more frequently designated, planters, raised principally wheat and barley; those in the North of Wiltshire, in addition, paid much attention to raising cattle, and those in the south to sheep.

[NOTE.]—The Bunker family is of Huguenot origin. The name formerly was Bon Coeur. Upon the ancestral records of this family we find also John Tilley and John Howland, signers of the Mayflower Compact.

Eliza Bunker was of the 7th Generation, from the Mayflower, descended from John Howland, whose name appears among the passengers of that vessel.

In Governor Bradford's History appears the following concerning the stormy passage of the Mayflower: "In a mighty storme a lustie young man called John Howland, coming upon some occasion alone, ye grattings was with a reele of ye ship thrown into ye sea, but it so pleased God, yt he caught hould of ye tope saile halliard, which hunge overboard and same out at length; yet he held his houlde (though he was sundrie times under water) till he was hauled up by ye same rope to the brune of ye water and then with a boat hooke and other means, got into ye ship and his life saved, and though he was something ill with it, yet he lived many years after and became a profitable member both in church and commonwealth."

John Howland was elected three successive years, 1633-4-5, to be one of Gov. Bradford's assistants, and was constantly engaged in the mercantile enterprizes of the colonists.
